

A MULTI-PARTY CHARTER FOR SOUTH AFRICA

Whereas the parties to this agreement, listed in Annexure A hereto, agree to contest the 2024 National and Provincial Elections as autonomous individual parties.

And whereas the lived reality of South Africans has become more difficult with unemployment, slow economic growth, crime, corruption, load shedding, infrastructure collapse, failed education and many other challenges limiting the potential and freedoms of the South African people.

And whereas the parties recognise that the ANC will fall below 50% in the 2024 elections, both nationally and in a number of provinces, enabling their removal from national and provincial government and replacement with effective and stable multi-party coalitions.

And whereas the parties recognise that they share common ground in respect of many of the solutions needed to address the most pressing challenges facing South Africans today and wish to record and publicise the terms of this agreement to offer a compelling new direction through a multi-party platform that can win the support of a majority of South Africans.

NOW WHEREFORE the parties agree as follows:

PREAMBLE TO THE MULTI-PARTY CHARTER

We, the undersigned political parties, come together at a time when South Africans are desperate for hope that can only come from a new political direction for our young democracy.

The pain and suffering of South Africans grow daily, with rising unemployment, spreading poverty, deepening inequality, spiraling crime and a stagnant economy.

Sacred freedoms that the founding fathers of our nation sought to guarantee in our Constitution have been undermined by an uncaring government which has believed that it will rule with impunity forever. Until now.

South Africans love their country, hate what has been done to it, and are tired of being told what they already know – that they have been failed.

We acknowledge our mission can no longer be to commentate on these challenges or apportion political blame. Our patriotic duty requires us to place South Africa on a new path that unleashes the potential of the South African people. A path to broad prosperity, peace and unity.

To fulfil this mission, we have come together to form a multi-party agreement that we will present to the South African people. This agreement is not defined by what we stand against, but rather by a new compelling vision that shows South Africans how we stand for them.

This vision will take shape through our shared understanding of the priority issues we will have to address in a new government, the principles that will guide our governance of South Africa, and the solutions that will get South Africa moving forward again.

As political parties we undertake to present this agreement to the South African people in the cities, towns, villages and rural settlements across our country until every South African knows our offer and witnesses that our parties can work together for their benefit.

While we will contest elections as individual parties, South Africans will see that we are greater than the sum of our parts. By offering the electorate a credible alternative, we will inspire those who have given up on politics, give hope to those who believe their vote makes no difference, and give voters real power to change the direction of their country.

We will work to win a collective majority in these elections because the challenges facing South Africans cannot be resolved from the opposition benches. This agreement will lay a foundation of rock on which we will build broad society support for a new government for South Africa.

It is time for all South Africans to come together in the knowledge that we are better together.

6. Common Ground on Shared Solutions to Challenges Facing South Africans

- 6.1. Signatory political parties to this agreement acknowledge that the Multi-Party Charter For South Africa must be based upon shared solutions to address the greatest challenges facing South Africans.

- 6.2. We understand that effective and stable coalition governments must arise from a jointly-owned programme of action that deepens the principles of co-governance and power-sharing.
- 6.3. The Multi-Party Charter For South Africa has agreed to the following high-level intentions underpinning the shared solutions to South Africa's greatest challenges, which will be further developed through a comprehensive multi-party policy process:

6.3.1. Growing the Economy and Creating Jobs

Our top priority is to achieve an inclusive, growing economy. We are committed to get our nation working, to alleviate poverty, redress inequality, empower families, and enable people to fulfil their aspirations and achieve their full potential.

6.3.2. Achieving Energy Security

We will end load-shedding by dramatically expanding electricity generation while restoring the long-term financial and technical sustainability of our energy grid, including by opening the energy market to private generation.

6.3.3. Law and Order that Combats Crime, Corruption and Drugs

We will promote law and order to ensure safe communities protect people, property, and infrastructure; combat corruption and state capture; and deter anti-social behaviour such as drug-dealing and drug-trafficking. We will be tough on crime and tougher on the causes of crime. We will rapidly develop and implement an anti-corruption framework to address corruption in the public sector.

6.3.4. Quality Education That Delivers Opportunity to All

We will fundamentally overhaul South Africa's education system, focusing our efforts on improving reading for meaning and basic numeracy outcomes. We will start by depoliticising the basic education administration and reintroducing fit-for-purpose performance management systems.

6.3.5. Basic Services to All Through High Quality Infrastructure

We will produce a national infrastructure plan that aligns unprecedented levels of budget allocations to new infrastructure and to renewing aging infrastructure to ensure that South Africans enjoy better services and that services are delivered to those who have lived without the dignity of such services.

6.3.6. A Professional Public Service that Delivers for All

We will build a capable state that delivers to all, especially the poorest, and that can withstand any form of political instability, with professional civil servants who are appointed on merit.

6.3.7. Quality Healthcare for All Within a Caring Healthcare System

We will uphold the constitutional right to universal healthcare through improving ratios of healthcare workers to patients, professionalizing the management of healthcare services, and reducing time to travel and wait for healthcare.

6.3.8. Building A Social Relief Framework for South African Households

We are strongly committed to ending poverty and hunger in South Africa. We will achieve this by implementing immediate measures to alleviate suffering, coupled with longer term measures to pull people out of poverty and into prosperity.

7. Declaration of Intent

7.1. Signatory parties to the Multi-Party Charter for South Africa commit to South Africans, and to one another, that:

7.1.1. we are unequivocal about our commitment to the vision, priorities, principles and common programme of the Charter.

7.1.2. therefore, we will not entertain any working arrangement or co-governing agreements with the ANC, EFF or any rival formations, and we will not vote for any office bearers of the ANC and EFF – nominated either directly or indirectly – at any inaugural meetings of the National Assembly, National Council of Provinces, and Provincial Legislatures.

7.1.3. Our mission is to unseat the ANC, keep out the EFF, and usher in a multi-party government following the 2024 National and Provincial Elections.

8. Principles of Sharing Public Power

8.1. Signatory political parties to this agreement recognise that stable and effective coalition arrangements must arise, at least in part, from the following principles of power sharing:

8.1.1. Coalitions cannot be stable if power-sharing is purely dealt with on the level of dividing up positions between coalition partners.

8.1.2. Long-term coalition stability can only arise when power-sharing transcends the superficiality of a focus on positions and achieves the principle of co-governance – a system of coalition which results in a genuinely multi-lateral programme of government.

8.1.3. A collective manifesto must be drawn up, combining the detailed policy positions of each party, that would be the policy input into a revised national development plan which would need to translate into a 5-year term of office national or provincial plan, annual budgets and departmental business plans.

8.1.4. A system of monitoring and evaluation framework must be developed to ensure that departmental key performance areas are identified, made public, tracked and publicly reported upon regularly.

8.1.5. In determining the sharing of positions, the following principles must be balanced:

8.1.5.1. Representation approximately proportional to election results;

8.1.5.2. Merit-based consideration as to which party has the best candidate for a position;

8.1.5.3. A diversity of parties must be represented in leadership positions and the principle of separation of powers should be observed within the coalition.

8.1.5.4. The collective cabinet or executive committee must reflect the diversity of the South African people.

8.1.6. There is no requirement that the leader of the largest party is de facto to be nominated for the position of President.

8.1.7. The largest party in a coalition in the National Assembly that arises from this agreement, and that does not hold the position of President of the Republic, will hold the position of Leader of Government Business.

8.1.8. Any candidate to be put forward for election as an office bearer, either nationally or provincially, must undergo an independent lifestyle audit, the results of which to be considered prior to any resolution to support their candidature. The outcomes of the lifestyle audit must then be made public.

8.1.9. A fundamental and wholesale review of the Ministerial Handbook be initiated to ensure that a cabinet of a new multi-party coalition government reflects the need to redirect budget resources to address the pressing needs of South Africans.

9. Duration of this Agreement

9.1. Signatory parties to this agreement confirm that this agreement, and the terms and provisions contained therein:

9.1.1. Commence on the date of the founding parties affixing their signatures to this document.

9.1.2. May only be amended by consensus.

9.1.3. Concludes for a political party only if they provide written notice of their exit from the Multi-Party Charter For South Africa or if they are removed from the agreement by a consensus decision of the other signatory parties.

9.1.4. Will only cease to exist by unanimous resolution of the signatory parties or upon the adoption of a multi-party coalition agreement being agreed after the 2024 national and provincial elections.
